Sitting there,
making out that it's just not fair at all Cold stares, nose in the air
Both pretending that we just don't care, but Every time you leave the room
I'd start to worry and I'd wonder where...

Where were you going, where had the love gone?
Both of us knowing we were missing the fun
How to control it, what had we done?
We couldn't get out of this thing we'd begun, but...

Now that we're friends again
Now that we're friends again
Now that we're friends again
I don't know what the fighting was over
Now that we're friends again
We promised we'll stay that way day to day, today

What a world
And will the boy ever understand the girl
Check mate, you were getting on great, and then something was said, and it was much too late, 'cos by the time you reached the end you'd won a point but you'd lost a friend

Where were we going, where had the love gone?
Both of us knew we were killing the fun
How to control it, what had we gone?
We couldn't get out of this thing we'd begun, but...

Now that we're friends again

We say that we'll learn and maybe we will
Now that we're friends again

It's not enough to say for all your life
Hoping you get there before it's gone away
It's just a shame to let a moment slide when no one can hide that all we have is here today

Just don't let us end that way!

Where were we going?
Both of us knew we were missing the fun
How to control it, what had we done?
We couldn't get out of this thing we'd begun, but...

Now that we're friends again
Now that we're friends again
We say that we'll learn and maybe we will
Now that we're friends again
I don't know what the fighting was over
Now that we're friends again
We pray that we stay that way day to day, today
Now that we're friends again
We pray that we pray that we stay that way today
Now that we're friends again
