What's it like to play a part?
What's it like to have a wooden heart?
Every word you say is so rehearsed
You think your clothes and actions control the universe

Well listen, what you'd better do
Well listen, gonna change your head
Well listen, or there's nothing can do
Listen to the ones who will change your world

You're the face upon a playing card
A colored painted, cold visage
You're just a pawn of somebody, somewhere
How it only trouble is, you're gonna get nowhere

Well listen, what you'd better do
Well listen, gonna change your head

Well listen, or there's nothing can do
Listen to the ones who will change your world

What's it like to play a part?
You got a wooden heart
You're just a puppet on a string
A nothing, no one, no style

You just play a part
You're just a pawn of someone, somewhere
And you'll get nowhere

Well, listen, what you'd better do
Well, listen, gonna change your head
Well, listen, or there's nothing can do
Listen to the ones who will change your world

Gonna change your world
Gonna change your world
