At twilight the day sheds its skin letting our starved hands in

by sun-up the night's fully dressed giving our tired hands rest

at twilight the day sheds its skin don't lay down

sheets rise

you sleep like the end is night you sleep like the bed's on fire hands in the night cut through the thickest hours

hands rest
