Subjects are thrown around the room
Looking for the ones that got away
I'm feeling of soft anticipation
Of a confrontation I won't make
But how do we do it
We turned into something else entirely
We fake it
I wanted it so desperately to be real

Run, run, holding on to some pieces that you left behind
Hope now, as I walk away, you're the one that finds me out
Run from the only thing left that I hold close

While he's letting you in You've got the feeling you've been followed under your skin
It will be weighing on your shoulder, believe it.
If I could express it in a different dialect or in a delicate way
I'd capture the phrases inside the cage beneath my chest
And keep it locked for days
I wanted you so desperately to believe me

Run, run, why're you running from another conversation?
Someone that I've been planning on, you're the one that finds me out.
There's nowhere, now I found you, that I won't go.

While he's letting you in You've got the feeling you've been followed under your
skin.
It will be weighing on your shoulder.
You've got that seed in you.
You've got that scene in you.

Run, run, what are you running from?
Let all your small steps expose your secrets.

You don't have to speak for me to believe it.
But what do you mean?

Shaken and faint, you've got the feeling you've been followed under your skin.
It will be weighing on your shoulder.
You've got that seed in you.
You've got that scene in... While letting you in You've got the feeling you've been followed.
Are you listening to anything I said?
(You've got that seed in you, you've got that scene in you)

Shaken and faint, it was the hardest thing to swallow.
Pretending you don't miss me.
You've got that seed in you.
You've got that scene in...
While letting you in, I'll be thinking about tomorrow.
And every time we cross those lines.
You've got that seed in you.
You've got that scene in...
Hope now, as I walk away, you're the one that finds me
out.
