Some man out on the street today, his whole life in a box. Someone must have loved him once, right now, just feels lost.

Don't know where he's headed, can't tell where he's been. But I wish I could say to him, you can start your life again.

Chorus: You can find somebody, to love more than you, you gotta hold on, hang on, wherever you do. When it feels like you've got nothin', when your world is all but stopped, you still have everything, when love is all you've got.

A family prayed beneath the bridge, I don't know how they do it. Their shoes and clothes were all but gone, but their faith gettin' full. Oh, you know there's somethin' special, by the mother and the father, can teach their kids to love, while others might not bother

Chorus: You can find somebody, to love more than you. When the rain stops, raining and the sun shines still. And when it feels like you've got nothin' and your world is all but stopped, you still have everything, when love is all you've got.

(instrumental) Maybe there's a miracle, it may be waitin' on, maybe it's been standin' right beside you all along.

So when you find somebody (find somebody) you can love more than you. You gotta hold on, hang on, whenever you do.

And when it feels like you've got nothin' and you're world is all but stopped, you'd still have everything. You'd still have everything when love is all you've got.
