

Brandon Heath

"If You Call My Name"

Visit "If You Call My Name" on MotoLyrics.com

Opened the door to my room and I thought of you paintin my walls to the shade of your favorite blue and dancing with a song in your head use to bother me now all I have is your song for some company in my bright imagination playing my shaky shattered love on a wind in the end I guess all I want you to say is that you want me to stay cause if you call my name I will turn around I will run to you sacrifice my shame I will follow, you I will follow you yesterdays gone so its on with the rest of me should open my dreams with a dose of reality and take another look at the bend in my history hoping maybe you'll come chasing after me (x2)cause if you call my name I will turn around I will run to you sacrifice my shame I will follow, I will follow you should I pay my pennis would my price be enough for you if there's nothing of my stead would you believe that (x2)if you call my name I will turn around I will run to you

sacrifice my shame I will follow, I will follow you

Visit Brandon Heath page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.