

George Huff

"Late Getting Home"

Visit "Late Getting Home" on MotoLyrics.com

Oh, I guess I should go while the going is good
And my legs are still able to stand
But your lovely smile froze my feet to the floor
And I'll be late getting home once again.

When I'm with you I lose all control
Like a slave waiting for your command
Oh, you are temptation in it's strangest form
And I'll be late getting home once again.

A womans eye view can take a man like me
And turn his resistance down low
Not only my heaven but you are my sin
And I'll be late getting home once again.

--- Instrumental ---

A woman like you can take a man like me
Yes, and turn his resistance down low
At home is my heaven but you are my sin
And I'll be late getting home once again.

Yes, I'll be late getting home once again...

Visit George Huff page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.