Well, here we are again, tonight, alone, just us two Where lights are dim and true is comin' through There's no one else in this old world as far as we're concerned
We built us a fire so let it burn.

When you look at me like you do right now, I go to pieces
'Cause I know what's on your mind, it's just me You've got that love me look in your eyes like you've had so many times, and how Loving you could never be better than it is right now.

Tomorrow night we'll meet again and once more fan
the flame
'Cause loving you the way I do, stays the same This love of ours is just as strong as any vow could be
And love could never be better for you and me.

When you look at me like you do right now, I go to pieces
'Cause I know what's on your mind, it's just me
You've got that love me look in your eyes like you've
Loving you could never be better than it is right now.

Loving you could never be better than it is right now...
