I dreamed that all the hearts I've broken came to visit me
And in my sleep they came to pay me for their misery
They were all so torn and shattered, Oh such tales of woe
It was I who caused them all and my conscience hurts me so.

Hearts in my dream, each one of them true
Each one loved me so, each one I broke in two My younger days were wild and reckless Just love 'em and let 'em be Those days are gone although it took a dream to make me see.

Hearts in my dream, each one of them true
Each one loved me so, each one I broke in two
My younger days were wild and reckless
Just love 'em and let 'em be
me see...
