MULTIPLY THE HEARTACHES

(Kathy Dee)

© '63 Glad Music

WITH MELBA MONTGOMERY

Once I thought two happy hearts would someday be as one

But then a third heart came along and now our love is gone

I count the many times I said I love no one but you

But don't be fooled by counting dreams that never will come true

Subtract one love and multiply the heartaches

Divide the tears by everytime a heart breaks

The answer only tells that it's too late

Subtract one love and multiply the heartaches

Subtract one love and multiply the heartaches...

Subtract one love and multiply the heartaches
