There's a sea between our hearts where the waves are cold and dark
And the undertow of loneliness gets strong
My heart's caught in the tide of a love that you've denide
For you're colder than this sea we're drifting on.

The sea between our hearts is dark and stormy
And the harbor of your love is the only haven for me
If I only had a chart to guide me to your heart
I'd anchor there and sail the sea no more.

--- Instrumental ---

There's a shore of happiness that somehow we have missed
And now you've drifted off to someone new
But I haunt the lonely sea with a crew of memories
For the compass of my heart still points to you.

The sea between our hearts is dark and stormy
And the harbor of your love is the only haven for me
If I only had a chart to guide me to your heart
I'd anchor there and sail the sea no more...
