She kept telling me she loved me
And would stick by me like glue
But all along she was slipping
Around with every other guy she knew.

And for her I walked that line
Until I found no love to gain
Oh, the more I saw of her
The blinder I became.

The more I saw of her
The less my eyes could see
Until one day I wised up
And stood up for me.

I found inside her a heart
So wild, no one could ever tame
The more I saw of her
The blinder I became.

The more I saw of her
The less my eyes could see
Until one day I wised up
And stood up for me.

I found inside her a heart
So wild, no one could ever tame
And the more I saw of her
The blinder I became...
