I almost wish that I could lose my mind sometime
Then maybe I'd be free of memories you left behind
With every single thought I hate to face the truth
It's never ending always there, this wanting you

Will I go through my life with only one desire?
Other arms have held me close but they can't kill the fire
This flame inside my heart has never burnt so blue
It's never ending always there, this wanting you

You're in my mind all the time, how long will it last?
Why can't I leave our love in peace, it's buried in the past
You let go so long ago but I still can't turn loose
Oh, it's never ending it's always there, this wanting you
It's never ending always there, this wanting you
