I'll be your stepping stone while you keep stepping on
From him to him
I'll try to keep the pace just looking for a place
In your heart within.

You told me once just how my kisses thrilled you
Since that time there's been many lips you've known
Now there you go again in love with someone new
And darling please, please don't miss your stepping stone.

I'll be your stepping stone while you keep stepping on
From him to him
I'll try to keep the pace just looking for a place
In your heart within.

In every step I want to be there helping For it's love not jealousy that hangs me on
When you walk out on him look where you're stepping
And darling please don't miss your stepping stone.

I'll be your stepping stone while you keep stepping on
From him to him
I'll try to keep the pace just looking for a place
In your heart within...
