The bar was empty, I was sweeping up the floor
That's when she walked in
I said I'm sorry, but we're closed
She said I know but I'm afraid I left my purse
I said I put one back behind the bar
I bet it's probably yours

And the next thing that I knew
There we were, lost in conversation
Before I handed her her purse
I said you'll only get this back on one condition

And we danced
Out there on that empty hardwood floor
The chairs up and the lights turned way down low
The music played, we held each other close
And we danced

And from that moment there was never any doubt
I'd found the one that I'd always dreamed about
And then one evening she stopped by after work
I pulled a diamond ring out of the pocket of my shirt

And as her eyes filled up with tears
She said this is the last thing I expected
And then she took me by the hand
And said I'll only marry you on one condition

And we danced
Out there on that empty hardwood floor
The chairs up and the lights turned way down low
The music played, we held each other close

And we danced
Like no-one else had ever danced before
I can't explain what happened on that floor
But the music played, we held each other close
And we danced
Yeah, we danced
