Spinnin' on another wheel, goin' round in slow motion Caught up in another dream, driftin' on a blue ocean When are you gonna reach out, only you can turn your world around

When will you surrender? Wake up to the real But you don't want to start out just yet, you watch the seasons come And go, you remember and then you forget, all along the way

You can make a better life, you're just waitin' for the right moment
You can find another way, you're just waitin' for the
When are you gonna let go and forget about the life you knew
When will you surrender? Wake up to the real Now you know that it's all borrowed time and still you waste another day
But you watch and you wait for a sign all along the way
