I can tell what you're thinking about
But then I always was a fan of yours
It puts a smile on your pretty face
Just to tell me everything is on course
But when I look outside your window frame
I feel the world can see me now
But if it feels like assimilation
It's just the thought of getting lost in the crowd

So everybody needs you
But I'll be yours for evermore

Stand back won't you please stay a minute
Don't wait for the moment when you're already in it
And this is all we want
But the future's what you get
Tune in, zone out, password accept and come in

I notice that you notice me
You know I saw the recognition in your eyes
I was as charmed as I was deceived
I know there's just no point in hiding what's inside
I hope you never ever fade away
You're burning out too fast to compromise
You must live life like it's chasing you
But that's for you and you alone to realize

So everybody needs you
But I'll be yours for evermore

Stand back won't you please stay a minute
Don't wait for the moment when you're already in it
And this is all we want
But the future's what you get
Tune in, zone out, password accept and come in

What you all about
What you all about
Stand about about, all about
Stand about about, all about
And reach out, reach out, reach out

So everybody needs you
But I'll be yours for evermore

Stand back won't you please stay a minute
Don't wait for the moment when you're already in it
And this is all we want
But the future's what you get
Tune in, zone out, password accept and come in
