Yes I know the chill you're spreading
And I know your eyes that burn
And I recognize your lonesome coat
You are to me just like a fairy tale
That I stroll through so all alone
And I know your name
It's Wintercold
Your gown is gray and blue
That are so deep I feel them good
Your wind still blows a word
Through trees that break my heart in two
To meet you here is truly a getaway
And I love you the way you are
You dig in lost despair until it's gone
I come to you from great confusion
To find relief in your old ways
I'll try to win your heart
That's who I am
Your gown is gray and blue
That are so deep I feel them good
Your wind still blows a word
Through trees that break my heart in two

Yes I know the chill you're spreading

And I know your eyes that burn

And I know your name

It's Wintercold
