

Gibson Debbie

"No More Rhyme"

Visit "No More Rhyme" on MotoLyrics.com

When the fear sets in
When the fire burns
Where I find a place
Where there's no where to turn
When the evening sings an eerie song
Longing for the day you say I'm wrong
You can find your place but never fit in
And only when you've left do you know where you've been
I can see the light but only when its gone
You can go on waiting but only for so long
I know we are right; it's not alway clear
Because I've never felt the fear
Can it stay so good forever in time?
I've always felt the rhythm
What happens when there's no more rhyme?
Can we face ourselves like we face each other?
We never felt anything on our own
I can't wait much longerto feel any danger
I hope we're not living for a life time alone
I know we are right

It's not always clear
Because I never felt the fear
Can it stay so good
Forever in time?
I've always felt the rhytm
What happens when there's no more rhyme?
Hard to go on
It's like waiting for the other shoe to drop
I'll never stop believing in you
It's just we never had to struggle
It all came too easy
I hope we felt what we felt from thestart
We've never sufferend a broken heart
We've been so blinded by all the best
We never put our love to the test
I've always felt the rhythm
What happens when there's no more rhyme?

Visit Gibson Debbie page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
