You made me feel like I was special
But then I found out that it was your speciality You said you'd give me everything but instead you gave it all to everyone but me and it was plain to see

But now I know better I have to move on

I'll find another baby,
wish you were never on my mind
No more lies and mabyes,
now I'm taking back what's mine
Find another baby and I'll be better off this time
So you can be where ever still you're never on my mind

I threw out all my memories of you

As they fell to the ground the sun came shining in Black and white has turned to colour
With a single breath I feel my life begin Now is the time to win

It's the end of this story cause I'm moving on

I'll find another baby,
wish you were never on my mind
No more lies and mabyes,
now I'm taking back what's mine
Find another baby and I'll be better off this time
So you can be where ever
still you're never on my mind
