Force of habit has me on the phone
Force of habit calling you at home
Force of habit and if I drop by Force of habit is the reason why

Force of habit makes my black eyes blue
Force of habit bumping into you
Force of habit like a tobacco make
It's a habit that is hard to break

And I don't want you to ever think
What I'm doing is a result of being
In denial over losing you
What gave you that idea

Force of habit has me in a spin
Force of habit thinking you'll come in Force of habit pouring drinks for two
It's a habit I picked up from you

Force of habit when you walk on by Force of habit sees me by your side
Force of habit like the night we met
It's a habit that I can't forget

And I don't want you to ever be cross
If I'm doing this then it's because
Like with most things you have had for years
Hard to believe they are gone

Force of habit sorry for what is
Force of habit nothing more than this
Force of habit what else can I do
Only habit that I have is new
Only habit I have had it's true
And the habit that's a habit's you
