It's like one door closes and another one closes
It's like two and two make five
It's like one door closes and another one closes
Just as you arrive

It's like we all like you but then decide to Go with someone else instead
Yes we all love you, put no-one above you
Then we go over your head

Maybe it was meant to be and it's for the best
Maybe but as you can see so hard to digest

It's like one big moment, your one big moment
When you go for broke
It's that one big moment, your one big moment
And it all goes up in smoke

Friends they all rally round and thank god they do
I don't know without my friends
How I would pull through

It's like one door closes and another one closes
With another closed nearby
It's like one door closes and another one closes
And all you can do is try
And it makes you want to
