

Ginny Owens

"Prelude"

Visit "Prelude" on MotoLyrics.com

One day I decided
I'd aspire to higher ambition
So I set out on a mission
To change the world

Armed and dangerous with my well-meant words
And best intentions
I went sharing my convictions
With every livin' soul

But it wasn't long 'til the lightning flashed

The storms of disenchantment crashed
And my ambitions were scattered by winds of doubt

And it wasn't long 'til I learned to see
Life wouldn't always be easy for me
So I wrote a little song to remind myself

Visit Ginny Owens page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.