Every shooting star reminds me when Hollywood lost
the brightest
That shine, that spark,
The sun set too soon that night

Every shooting star reminds me when Hollywood lost
the brightest
That shine, that spark,
The sun set too soon that night

Here's to,
Here's to you,
And we'll raise our drinks one last time
I never thought I'd have to say this,
(I never thought I'd have to say goodbye)
One life lost, a thousand memories fade in (Your memory will never fade in mine)

You opened the door to show me there was hope, So I'll take it and run to show the world, so they will know,
Your fire won't burn, burn out
And I hope heaven needs you more than I do now

Every shooting star reminds me when Hollywood lost
the brightest
That shine, that spark,
The sun set too soon that night

Every shooting star reminds me when Hollywood lost
the brightest
That shine, that spark,
The sun set too soon that night

Every shooting star reminds me when Hollywood lost
the brightest
That shine, that spark,
We love you
