

Bread

"London Bridge"

Visit "London Bridge" on MotoLyrics.com

I know the times, the times are hard to bear
It's hard to find someone to really care
But before I went down and out
Here's what I used to think about
Think about

London Bridge was always fallin' down
But there it stood within the heart of town
Reminding everyone of life behind
And life to come

The changes taking place are everywhere
The centuries past have nothing to compare
Where they stand, where they trip and fall
Watch the writing on the wall
On the wall

London Bridge is fallin' down at last
And so another memory of the past
Has fell beneath the blade
But soon the dead may be repaid

I know things just can't evolve for all eternity
The thoughts we leave, will never die
Now so you can see

London Bridge is finally fallin' down
They packed it up and shipped it outta' town
And though the horror's gone
The memory will linger on

London Bridge is finally fallin' down
It used to stand within' the heart of town
Reminding everyone of life behind
And life to come

London Bridge is finally fallin' down
I've heard it's said, it's there, it's old

Visit Bread page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

