My life got cold

My life got cold
So take it day by day

My life got cold
It happened many years ago
When summer slipped away
So chill now, whoa
We've gotten many years to go
So take it day by day

We text as we eat, as we listen to the freaks
As we wait for the right of way
We text as we talk, we're running as we walk
Cos we surf our little souls away
We smoke as we choke, as we sink another coke
And we grin when it blows our mind
We skate as we date, as we slowly suffocate
We're running, we're running, we're running out of time

My life got cold
It happened many years ago
When summer slipped away
So chill now, whoa
We've gotten many years to go
So take it day by day

And long ago I lost my soul
To some forgotten dream
But, how was I supposed to know
It wasn't what it seemed
And even though the last hello
Has left me on the floor
I don't believe in Romeo's and heroes anymore

Oh oh oh oh yeah

And long ago I lost my soul
To some forgotten dream
But, how was I supposed to know
It wasn't what it seemed

And even though the last hello

Has left me on the floor
I don't believe in Romeo's and heroes anymore

We spend as we lend
Cos we're happy to pretend
Everything's gonna be OK
We shake as we wake
Never give until we take
And we hate when we have to pay
We flirt while we work
To forget about the hurt
And the trash that we left behind
We sink as we swim
The ice is wearing thin

My life got cold
So chill now, whoa

And long ago I lost my soul
But, how was I supposed to know
And even though the last hello
I don't believe in Romeo's and heroes anymore

The last hello
The last hello

I don't believe in romeos or heroes anymore
