I left you long ago, my life was mine alone
Dreams chased and lost in a second square
How was I to ever know, all that shines, isn't gold Bright lights on the lonely load, and I'm missing you

And it's my heartache, my heartache, my heartache
now
My heartache, my heartache now

Was too short and moved too fast, so far ahead I finished last
Now I long for the aging past to bring you home Every breath, another song, just regrets I did you wrong
A fool's apology and now you're gone, and I'm on my own

And it's my heartache, my heartache, my heartache
My heartache, my heartache, my heartache now
My heartache, my heartache now

Oh, ah, I'm missing you. Oh, I need you, oh I need you

Solo

And it's my heartache, my heartache, my heartache
My heartache, my heartache, my heartache now
My heartache, my heartache now
