Every time you leave I hear a blue bird cry
Every now and then I wonder why oh why I need you
Here I am again, alone but feeling high
But it won't be too long before I break down and cry

Sitting in this cold room watching time roll by Given half the chance into your arms I'd fly But you're a hundred miles away by now, high in the sky
And it won't be too long before I break down and cry

It's so easy to be lonely when you're far away from me
It's so hard to face another day of sorrow
But I know you'll be coming back real soon
And you'll change this lonely room into heaven once again

From the very first glance I knew you were mine Something very special hiding in your smile, was mine yeah
Underneath the love light shining in your eyes
Was a world to discover, you took me by surprise

It's so easy to be lonely when you're far away from
me
It's so hard to face another day of sorrow
But I know you'll be coming back real soon
And you'll change this lonely room into heaven once
again
But I know you'll be coming back real soon
And you'll change this lonely room into heaven once
again
