Troughout these years
We tried to make you see
Everything that you wanted to be!
Go!

Don't even try it, you will never be me
Jealousy is a weak man's disease
Don't close your eyes to the things that you see
Your accusations mean nothing to me

No matter what I do
You will follow me

It's time to choose your side
But you know
You're not, strong enough to join me
I know you'll choose my side
But you know
You're not strong enough to join me

We'll suck you in, spit you out like you're nothing
This reign of terror's begun and I am your king
We should have known, we should have known
That this would happen
Now that we've made it on our own
Your imitation is weak

Now it's clear that your chance was misplaced
I put my trust in a fucking disgrace
You'll look back on those darkened days
I gave you something you can never repay

No matter what I do
You will follow me

It's time to choose your side
But you know
You're not, strong enough to join me
I know you'll choose my side
But you know
You're not strong enough to join me

It's time to choose your side
But you know
You're not, strong enough to join me
I know you'll choose my side
But you know
You're not strong enough to join me

It's time to choose your side
But you know
You're not, strong enough to join me
I know you'll choose my side
But you know
You're not strong enough to join me

It's time to choose your side
But you know
You're not, strong enough to join me
I know you'll choose my side
But you know
You're not strong enough to join me!
