Rosie Simpson took a foreign cruise just before the war She met a man in the fatherland cruising the Salzburg bars

Al was a dove and a math whiz a product of German science
He and Rosie laid down that night
?Couldn't care?, worked it out on paper

(chorus)

Simon never knows why he gets A's and the others just beat their heads Simon never had a care 'til he heard all the stories about his dad
Stories about his dad

Rosie went back to the states
The world was catching fire
She discovered she was three weeks late Simon showed up nine months later

(chorus)

Simon never knows why he gets A's
and the others just beat their heads
all the stories about his dad
Stories about his dad

He read the headlines every day
A secret for him to share
And he realized in a flash of white light His dad equaled M-C-squared

(chorus)

Simon never knows why he gets A's
and the others just beat their heads
Simon never had a care 'til he heard
all the stories about his dad
Stories about his dad

Simon finally found his roots though he never met his dad
But we now heard Simon's name
He said to himself,
"that's the best idea I ever had."

(chorus)

Simon never knows why he gets A's
and the others just beat their heads
all the stories about his dad
Stories about his dad

(repeat "Stories about his dad" and fade
