I cannot capture any part of You, but I will try
I wonder where to find Your heart in mine

I love You more
I love You more than this
I love You more
I love You more than this

For any words I have to bring to You are not enough
For there's no melody so sweet as Your love
So all creation with me waits for the healing
Until that day, I'll sing Your praise from here

I love You more
I love You more than this
I love You more
I love You more than this

I cannot capture any part of You, but I will try
