So let me knock on this wood once more
I hope karma doesn't exist Because if it does...
I'll be feeling it real soon on my hands and knees

Previous adventures and these types of stories seem to feel the same Cold and heartless, no emotions more than just a game

In the past i've hurt so much
It seems only fair for me, for me to get crushed
But i'm crossing my fingers...
I won't lose what i have

Previous adventures and these types of stories seem to
feel the same
Cold and heartless, no emotions more than just a

And with you its a complete different book, polar opposites
Warm and passionate full of wonderful emotions

You've turned a stone into an emerald
You made me forget the past
They say nothing lasts forever
But i really hope this lasts

But I've hoped whatever you do will last forever

Previous adventures and these types of stories seem to
feel the same
Cold and heartless, no emotions more than just a

And with you its a complete different book, polar
opposites
Warm and passionate full of wonderful emotions
