"i remember it like it was yesterday:
meeting you, going to shows, writing the story of our lives together, seeing snow for
the first time,
and just making the same new friends.
it seems like it was just the other day, but it is really
many miles away...
it seems like our time is ending soon, but it is really
many miles away...
so maybe physically we've changed our ways and
drifted apart,
but mentally we're still the same.
i remember it like it was yesterday:
seeing you go through love, this world is full of surprises.
and if you remember correctly, we were there for you
through it all.
blood brothers...we're here for each other...
any problems you have...we'll help out our brothers
don't hide away...come find me, i'll be here with open arms."
