

Glen Campbell

"Pave Your Way to Tomorrow"

Visit "Pave Your Way to Tomorrow" on MotoLyrics.com

(Billy Graham)

Living for today is far of living for tomorrow
For tomorrow's something we'll all have to find It's black on black of midnight so your pave must be the God light
To you raze the fear of darkness from your mind.

You've got to pave your way into tomorrow
You've got to live in that your brother live as well
You've got to pave your way into tomorrow
And let your love of living cast its spell.

Gentle raindrops falling people stream will keep on going
Till they build the raging river deep and wild
Now life is one way liver so the beachman is a giver
He might have to keep the ocean satisfied.

You've got to pave your way into tomorrow
You've got to live in that your brother live as well
You've got to pave your way into tomorrow
And let your love of living cast its spell.

And let your love of living cast its spell...

Visit Glen Campbell page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.