Count down the rings
Or pick up the phone
But she's sure to know
That you're not alone
More on the side
And less at the home
Dust and dry earth
Where a garden should grow

It's your decision now
To give love or just get out
Don't be another half life in this house

Why'd you come here?
What did you want?
You did something right
Just look what you got
You can fake at work
Fake it for friends
But not for your children
Or the woman you wed

And it's you decision now
To give love or just get out
Don't be another half life in this house
Don't be another half life in this house

But I know you've got it in you
Let it go, just let her in to you

There's dirt in your nails
Blood on the floor
You play for the angles
You play what you know

So make your decision now
Dig in or get the hell out
Don't be another half life in this house
You'll be another half life in this house
Don't bring another half life to this house

But I know you've got it in you

Just let them into you
Why can't you let them in
Why can't you
Let them in
