Another lonely night
Under the spell of a summer moon
I heard the wind sing a lonely tune
I did it for your love

I waited by the shore
Just for one glimpse of you, nothing more
I heard the wind tell the stars above
I did if for your love

How can I believe in love when all that I can see
Is everything it's done to you and me?

I went the extra mile
Did everything just to see you smile
Somehow I knew it was all worthwhile
'Cause I did it for your love

The leaves will soon be turning
Then falling to the ground
I'll face the cold of winter
And you won't be around

Another lonely night
Somehow it all slipped through my hands
Somehow I knew you would understand
I did it for your love
I did it for your love
I did it for your love
