"Once Again"

Here you are
Seems you've always been here
Screaming out
Waiting for the night now
If you close your eyes
Then you couldn't see me
Then you wouldn't have to know
Just close your eyes

Now the sun is shining through the window
Just wishing that the window was a door

Once again
you take it from my hand
You just won't make me stand
On these two feet again

In the dark
You could light a candle
Hold it up
Light the path ahead now
If you carry on
One day you will find me
Find a way to make it pay
Just carry on

Now the sun is shining trough the window
Just wishing that the window was a door

And then my eyes, could see all of the colours
If only you would give me one more try

Once again
you take it from my hand
You just won't make me stand
On these two feet again
One more time
I'm begging for my life
Please don't make me cry
Or start over again
