Words and Music by Gary Wesselhoff

I called your house the other day there was no answer, I wanted to play I wrote a song 'bout times not long gone, yet so far away
before we went astray

Remember when we were just dreaming?
Still in school--no one was acheiving sane by day; crazy all night we were hangin' tight

everthing was right

Then one day I turned around thirty years; careers gone down Life's become so complicated and the fog alieviated

When I look back I wonder where I was dropped without bus fare Just one day would be so great to be back in '68
