So Long

And this is for all those night that I left you for the road

Kept you wondering if I was coming home

But if you knew all those time, could hardly tear myself from your side

Never forgetting the way you look before I go

And I just can't keep myself from falling...

And this is for all those years, still the memories remain

How it used to be will never be the same

And this is for all those tears that you had held for me here

So I can drown in all the anger and the pain

And I just can't keep myself from falling...

So long, I've been waiting here forever

So long, all those lonely nights I never

So long, I've been waiting here forever and all those nights

So long, I've been waiting here forever and all those nights I never

So long, I've been waiting here forever

So long, all those lonely nights I never

So long, I've been waiting here forever

So long, all those lonely nights I never
