You remind me of a summer breeze
Gently caressing my face
Elements melt when you speak to me
Your presence I will give chase

I have one desire
It's to know the mystery of You
Nothing fuels my fire
Then when I fall on a clue
I catch a glimpse
For a moment and that is all I need
Once again, I am hungry
And when my soul You feed
You remind me...

You remind me of a summer breeze
Gently caressing my face
Elements melt when you speak to me
Your presence I will give chase

There are times I wonder
What You must think of me
You see my every falter
You see my every need
You're at the door
I let You in
In my shame I look away
Then the tears begin to fall
When I hear You say
To me

The beauty of Your master plan I now can see My desire for You was put there from Your desire for me
That's why...

You remind me of a summer breeze (I can't see You)
Gently caressing my face (But I know You're there)
Elements melt when you speak to me
Your presence I will give chase
