Everyone around me saying different things
I try to listen but nothing sinks in
The goals I chase are out of reach
It's time to stop going after something ceased

Our dreams aren't dead
So we can't give in
To the lies we've been fed

How do you know what to feel inside
When you're taught to restrain and deny
We're supposed to speak our minds but do we dare
When it's easier to follow and not care

Our dreams aren't dead
So we can't give in
To the lies we've been fed

What if my life began today?
Would I choose a different way?
Evey if my words remain unsaid
My dreams still aren't dead
