(Ronnie Scott - Steve Wolfe)

There's something about the way he's been out
A little more often lately
Something somebody said sorta struck in my head
Affected my confidence greatly
She apparently saw, about two nights before
The two of us dancing closely.

I said thank you for the call, but I wasn't there at all.

Should I listen to my head this time
Take some notice of those friends of mine
who keep telling me that I must be blind
But, I'm a woman, with a woman's mind.

Should I turn my back and walk away
Should I hold him in my arms and say
It doesn't matter anyway
As long as you love me babe.

I'm a woman with a woman's way
Could I ever leave him anyway
I listen to my heart this time
Cause, I'm a woman with a woman's mind.

I hope I'm not right, but last Monday night,
He talked in his sleep while dreaming
He whispered a name, he couldn't explain
Now I got that losing feeling
Yes, I know the long way
I know he'll be late and give me those same excuses
It's it that time to say goodbye
I'll let the cheating turn off the light.

Should I listen to my head this time
Take some notice of those friends of mine
Who keep telling me I must be blind
But, I'm a woman, with a woman's mind.

Should I turn my back and walk away

Should I hold him in my arms and say
It doesn't matter anyway
As long as you love me babe.

I'm a woman with a woman's way
Could I ever leave him anyway
I listen to my heart this time
I'm a woman with a woman's mind.

Should I listen to my head this time
Take some notice of those friends of mine
Who keep telling me I must be blind...
