Broken trust makes a jealous heart.
Injured love slowly falls apart.
Say good-bye cause love can't right,
Above the lies of a broken trust

Young love is such a special thing,
It spoils the heart for less
But sure as time, all things must change,
Not always for the best
With wicket ease, temptation breeds,
A strong and binding spell
But, the honeymoon is over when,
Your out with someone else

Cause a Broken trust makes a jealous heart.
Injured love slowly falls apart.
Say good-bye cause love can't right,
Above the lies of a broken trust

This world is full of hungry eyes,
But they can't turn your head
If you place the one you cherish far above the rest.
For a while the sparks of careless fires,
Where everyone gets burned
Just look at me and you will see,
A lesson to lay learned

Broken trust makes a jealous heart.
Injured love slowly falls apart.
Say good-bye cause love can't right,
Above the lies of a broken trust
Above the lies of a broken trust
