(Dallas Frazier)

Even though, the night is early
There's a fire, that whispers hurry
Darling please, turn off the lights and lock the door
Come and lay down here beside me
And tell me I'm soft and pretty
And love me like you never have before.

If this is our last time
Make it last me for a lifetime
Don't hold back the love you feel inside
Why should passion be a shame
If this is our last time
Make it last me for a life time
Leave me with enough of sunshine
To carry me through the rain.

In the morning, your gonna be leaving
Ah, but tonight there'll be no believing
I'll have lots of time to cry, when your gone
Oh, lets not waste one precious moment
Take all of me, cause I'm your woman
And love me until, the break of dawn.

If this is our last time
Make it last me for a lifetime
Don't hold back the love you feel inside
Why should passion be a shame
If this is our last time
Make it last me for a life time
Leave me with enough of sunshine
To carry me through the rain...
