(M.Foster - J.Hinson)

Just for the moment, we'll become lovers
Forget all our troubles, together again
Just for the moment, once more we'll discover
We still need each other, just for the moment.

Your hand in my hand, stirring up memories
You always could get me with the flash of an eye
But that ain't the reason, we didn't make it
We just couldn't take it after a while.

Just for the moment, we'll become lovers
Forget all our troubles, together again
Just for the moment, once more we'll discover
We still need each other, just for the moment.

Love always changes, strangers to lovers
And lovers to strangers, when it comes to an end
And all we could salvage, out of a fire
Was our desire, a spark in the wind.

Just for the moment, we'll become lovers
Forget all our troubles, together again
Just for the moment, once more we'll discover
We still need each other, just for the moment.

We still need each other, just for the moment...
