She walks me home
There's a Mercedes parked in our street
So we stop and we discuss
Who on earth the owner could be that's just like me

I'd evade waking up
If the alarm wouldn't ring
I'd walk into quick sand
If I knew how far I'd sink

Twin layers of trouble
Two times that might
Twin layers of lightning
Both of us can strike

We went into a club, bouncers got no brains
He said both of you are barred
I had to set him straight
Listen Jack, don't you know, I'm a star

Twin layers of trouble
Two times that might
Twin layers of lightning
Both of us can strike

Some people have no money
While other people have no tact
If they invite us around
Well, they're going to get a double act

We scream and we shout
And then we love and we turn
Then we set a chair on fire
And we watch the whole house burn

Twin layers of trouble
Two times that might
Twin layers of lightning
Both of us can strike

It's written in big letters
Graffiti all over town

It says, "Troublemakers on the run"
And both our names are written down

Oh, but infamy or fame
Each came in a small dose
I just wish the day would come
When the last one would be so close
