Written by Valentine/Ross
There are some things I will never reveal
About the way I think and what I feel
On the surface, smooth, calm and cool
Eyes deep and blue as a swimming pool
And I convince with certainty
No interference will get thru to me
And is hanging on the wall
Like a picture that's been painted
An admired but untouchable
Reflection A vision of nowness
To know the world, complex and wide
A vision of nowness
I'll put you on, but envy none
To be temperamentally tranquilized
Break you with care to stay free of want
I'm your curiosity
Notorious, you'll never get what you see
Like a picture that's been painted
And is hanging on the wall
An admired but untouchable
A vision of nowness
A vision of nowness
Reflection
