let me take a little break i'm having the hardest time convincing
you that there are better ways to say what's on your mind insult intimidate let's try to be more diplomatic we all have opinions here we all have the right if you make an effort to understand you don't have to fight put down your weaponry you get so fking defensive no man we don't hate you we can shake it off we need to go find a place where we can carry on everyone hears, but it's no one's business i think we've said enough we just need to find a place where we can carry on if we can wait for better days to open up our eyes then we can say the things we feel and make no compromise we all have opinions here we all the right we're not perfect, we make mistakes we just have to try
