You got the first mile, made it through but you're falling apart
Forget the distance that you've moved since you were at the start
I bet you would do much better doing what you feel in you parts
Because you give, take, and give all that you've got

And it starts to break you down until you have broken
Down until you have broken

I've got a bucket of water in case you catch on fire
I'm at the pit stop waiting for you if you blowout a tire
I gotta tell ya, you fight like a bull
And that I truly admire that you give, take, and give all that you've got

And it starts to break you down until you have broken
Down until you have broken
Down
Down

No flag in sight yet
But you've gotta keep moving
If your wheels forsake you
It'll surely break you
In time you'll be sold and you might feel cold
But don't forget that it's the path you've chosen

Down until you have broken
Down until you have broken
Down until you have broken
Down
Down
