Where it all began
?Cause I don't even know
But the shit keeps piling on top
You don't make amends

And I don't understand
And you don't even really know me
Someone's holding on to me
I think I really should calm down

I can feel my adrenaline running
Through my veins and blood
Sometimes you can lose control
And they don't understand

They take you for a ride
And then they want to hold you hand
You fought you screamed
And they don't even know

What you really have in store
You hear all the shit
And you don't fucking care
You just have to ignore

Where it all began ?cause I don't even know
But the shit keeps piling on top
You don't make amends
And I don't understand

And you don't even really know me
Someone's holding on to me
I think I really should calm down
I can feel my adrenaline

They feed you, full of shit
That you already know
They take you for a ride
And then they want to hold your hand
